GMORK

GRÜNER VELTLINER

Product Information

---

Soil: Loess

Vinification & Yield: Hand harvest, grape and single berry selection, fermented and aged on the yeast in stainless steel. Yield approx. 45 hl/ha

Tasting Notes: Wonderful, brilliant yellow; everything in the nose what one may desire from a Veltliner: multi-layered fruit and multi-layered spice, pepper, nut, apple and exotic; very stimulating bouquet, immediately unfolding finesse; lively bundle, desiring to have the next sip. Grüner Veltliner can be so lovely in this style. There is no other single vineyard Grüner on the market that can beat this taste and price – best value!!!

Gmörk: The Gmörk vineyard, located between the wine cellar streets of Feuersbrunn and Fels, is a southern-facing site at the foot of the Hengstberg, on old riverbed of Danube. The top layer of the very deep soil is of humus, and beneath this a loam-loess mix – the best conditions for the typical classic Grüner Veltliner of Wagram. "Gmörk" is an old bohemian word for "neighboring"

Alc: 12.0 %vol.

Residual Sugar: 3.5g

Acidity: 5.6g

Anton Bauer, born in 1971, represents the 4th generation to manage the now 75 acres winery. After his graduation from the School of Wine and Fruit Growing in Krems, Lower Austria, and a training in Burgundy he worked for more than four years as an oenologist with a renowned Lower Austrian winery. Since 1992, when he took over the winery from his parents, at this time 8 acres, he has been uncompromisingly pursuing his ideas of quality, paying great attention to underlining the typically regional features and the terroir character of the wines that make them incomparable and unique. Anton Bauer was voted "Winemaker of the Year 2016" by the esteemed Falstaff Magazine in Austria. His wines have been highly rated by Wine Enthusiast and Falstaff Wine Guide.

Wine Region Wagram: The Wagram, a 25-mile long and 100-foot-high ridge between the towns of Krems and Tulln, consists of thousands of years old gravel sediments from the ancient Danube River.

Production: The physiologically ripe grapes are harvested by hand and handled as gentle as possible. When grapes come in from the vineyards they are hand-selected on a sorter belt. A long period of extensive contact with the yeast makes the wines harmonious, ensuring that there is a quality balance between acidity and alcohol. As the wines are bottled relatively late they can mature slowly. This is exactly part of Anton Bauer's philosophy: Things need time to develop, and wine needs time as well.
