Producer Information

The Rosset Terroir Farm is a small, newly established private property that has only been able to distinguish itself in a very few harvests, signaling itself rapidly on several industry guides, for its very veracity of its products. "The Expression's Guide rewards the Rossalin's Cornalin family, describing it as a fascinating, autochthonous red that emits a genuine mountain character." This is our goal, the constant search for the qualitative and natural growth of our products, preserving and enhancing our terroir, which is now the only property that distinguishes us internationally.

Rosset is a wine producer located in the city of Quart, in the Aosta area, one of the provinces of the Valle d'Aosta region. Total production per year: 20,000 bottles
